

Monitor your Progress

Wild Weather: Do you understand why we measure the weather? Do you know the different climatic variations around the world? Weather affects us all so listen carefully this is a whole question in your exam!

How much do you know?

Do you know the difference between the terms weather and climate?
I am able to suggest ways that climate and weather affect our lives.
I can explain why temperature varies over the earth's surface?
I am able to explain the three different ways that it rains?
I am able to understand the concept of air pressure.
I know the different air masses that approach the UK and can draw them onto a map.
I am able to describe and explain the weather associated with a depression.
I am able to describe and explain the weather associated with an anticyclone.
I can use simple instruments to measure weather.
I understand how to use a choropleth map.
I can describe the location and characteristics of the Mediterranean climate.
I can describe and explain the location and characteristics of the temperate maritime climate.
I understand why the UK's climate is how it is?
I understand what a microclimate is.
I understand how aspect, buildings and different surface types affect microclimates.

During this topic you have to do your coursework so stay focused and ask if you get lost!

Mr Pilkington