STUDENTS boarding at a Cobham school are enjoying "outstanding" facilities.

That is the conclusion of a recent Ofsted report of the facilities at Feltonfleet.

A report by inspectors, who spent two days in November at the co-educational day and boarding school, said: "The overall quality rating is outstanding".

It added: "During the process of inspection the school was found to provide excellent outcomes for pupils boarding at Feltonfleet in all areas judged." It concludes: "...the boarding provision was being managed in an exceptional manner to ensure that physical, social and educational needs of the pupils were being met.

"The school prides itself in providing a small community feel that is modern, flexible and comfortable.

"Boarders truly benefit from a nurturing family boarding experience supported by a dynamic and dedicated team."

Headteacher Phil Ward said: "The inspection team told us that they have not given this rating to any other prep school since Ofsted assumed responsibility for boarding school inspection.

"It is a fitting testimony to the quality of the boarding house team, superbly led by the head of boarding Peter Harnden and his wife Claire.

"They do such a good job for us, and so do their team of house tutors and matrons, ably supported by the GAP students and our excellent catering team.

"It is also a tribute to the wonderful children we have boarding this year and I would like to thank all of them for their excellent efforts during this process."
